Product description:

The Hack Squat is an exercise machine that is used for lower body strength training, and is designed to replicate a natural, squatting motion .

Thanks to the curved range of motion, the Hack Squat reduces the axial load and consequently the stress on the knee and back .

The large platform guarantees an ideal pushing surface and the possibility of stimulating all the muscular areas of the low body department simply by changing the position of the feet. 4 disc holder pins for easy and immediate storage.
