Product description:

The DIAMOND 500 Series Gluteus Machine is the ideal machine for targeted training of the buttocks in the gym; in fact, the extension of the rear leg to the machine is considered one of the best exercises for the development of the muscles of the large, medium and small gluteus.

The machine has a counterbalance to eliminate the empty weight of the operating lever.

Push roller adjustable at multiple heights, as well as support cushions for the forearms with relative adjustable grip on a double guide rail system made of alloy steel.

The ventral cushions have been modified to leave greater freedom to the chest. High density foam padding, PU leather upholstery "for furniture". 1 disc holder pin for easy and immediate storage.
