Product description:

The solid and imposing structure of the CCR-M, DUAL PULLEY MASTER by DIAMOND , supports the great flexibility of use of a machine that was created to combine durability and immediacy of use for users of any order and level, in the execution of the most demanding workouts. varied and intense.

The angular design allows positioning even in dimensionally limited environments , creating space where a different solution would take it away. Thanks to the two independent 90 kg columns , it is possible to perform isolated exercises, as in the best functional training protocols, or allow 2 users to use the machine at the same time, appropriately orienting the pivoting pulleys, which are fully adjustable in height.

The selection system, using a fixed pin, offers the best possibility of exploiting the 18 5 kg metal plates that make up the weight stack. The large casing and the pulleys protected by shells make the CCR-M suitable for use both in professional and educational environments , assisted and supervised, and in hotel contexts, without the need for further precautions.
